A Prayer for Mothers: We pray for young mothers, who give life and count toes and tend to every need; May they be blessed with patience and tenderness to care for their families and themselves with great joy. We pray for our own mothers who have nurtured and cared for us; May they continue to guide us in strong and gentle ways. We remember mothers who are separated from their children because of war, poverty, or conflict; May they feel the loving embrace of our God who wipes every tear away. We pray for women who are not mothers but still love and shape us with motherly care and compassion. We remember mothers, grandmothers, and great-grandmothers who are no longer with us but who live forever in our memory and nourish us with their love. Amen. (Author unknown)

Today's Gospel There are lessons which are timeless in the story. Perhaps the young have always had the urge to be prodigal. Maybe there is a prodigal church of the lapsed out there waiting for us to be generous to them. Maybe it is better to act out and regret it than to remain passive aggressive and sullen. It was not only the empty belly which drove the prodigal home but the memories of a good, forgiving, accepting and tender home and parents which made it possible for him to return. For most of us, repentance and conversion are a lifelong struggle, a slow turning, sifting truth from falsehood, truth from lies, wisdom from foolishness. What we are reminded of, during Lent especially, is to turn to God who receives with joy and generosity. The truth of the story is that God’s love is greater than all sin, greater than all misgivings, more generous than we can imagine. To ask that forgiveness and to accept that forgiveness and to be thankful for it is the only condition God proposes.
